MOURA GROUP

Leading company in industrial batteries

Data & Security

The Moura Group, a leading company in industrial batteries, implement Convergia's CxC Data Security in the town of Pilar (Argentina), resulting in a high-ranking network.

Due to the demand for connectivity by the production processes of the Conecta project (Brazil and Argentina), the Moura Group, specialized in the sale of batteries to different sectors of the industry, saw the need to implement a Wireless and Networking solution in its factory in the town of Pilar (Buenos Aires) to have a high-ranking network.

Convergia implemented a network solution that managed to provide coverage in all the facilities of the main branch and in 7 additional branches. With the execution of this project, the Moura group currently has a high availability network throughout the plant.

"Great victories and achievements only occur when there is, among other values, team spirit, owner spirit, persistence, improvement, learning from one's mistakes, leadership by example and focus on the client. The Convergia Argentina team showed a high level of commitment.

Together we were able to overcome all adversities and deliver the IT infrastructure of Moura Argentina, Pilar town, on the promised date. It was a huge and challenging technical job for everyone, and together we were able to achieve success. I know I can count on Convergia for the next challenges that come." ~ Luis Torres, ICT Infrastructure Manager Brazil-Argentina.
